

COOKIE POLICY

What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files containing a string of characters that can be stored in your web browser that uniquely identify your browser or device.

Why do we use cookies?

Cookies allow us to help understand how our site is being used, help you navigate between pages efficiently, help remember your preferences, and generally improve your browsing experience. Cookies allow our website to function properly. We do not store any information beyond your browsing session.

What types of cookies do we use?

There are generally four categories of cookies: “Strictly Necessary,” “Performance,” “Functionality,” and “Targeting.” We use Strictly Necessary, Performance, and Functionality cookies on our website. You can find out more about each cookie category below.

1. Strictly Necessary Cookies. These cookies let you use all the different parts of our website. Without them, services that you have asked for cannot be provided.
2. Performance Cookies. These cookies collect information about how you have used our website, so that we can make it better. All information these cookies collect is aggregated and therefore anonymous.
3. Functionality Cookies. These cookies allow us to provide enhanced functionality and personalize our website to you by remembering your preferences and settings. They may be set by us or by third party providers whose services we have added to our pages.

How long will cookies stay on your device?

The length of time a cookie will stay on your computer depends on whether it is a “persistent” or “session” cookie. Session cookies will only stay on your device until you stop browsing. Persistent cookies stay on your computer until they expire or are deleted. We only use session cookies.

First and third-party cookies

First-party cookies are cookies that belong to us; third-party cookies are cookies that another party places on your device through our website. Third-party cookies may be placed on your device by someone providing a service for us, for example, to help us understand how our website is being used.
